

Justin Nguyen, Otis Jackson, Kameron Wilson
CSC 3380
HW 2

Consumer Story 1

A customer wants to be entertained by a form of visual media
The customer spends all day on other websites looking for a satisfying piece of media with no success.
The customer comes to our website looking for entertainment as a guest account
They browse the various sections of the website
The customer finds a story that interests them
The customer consumes the entire media along with advertisements
The customer leaves the website

Consumer Story 2

A customer wants to be entertained by a form of visual media
The customer spends all day on other websites looking for a satisfying piece of media with no success.
The customer comes to our website looking for entertainment as a guest account
They browse the various sections of the website
The customer finds a story that interests them
The customer consumes the entire media along with advertisements
The customer wants to see more media and continues to consume media and advertisements
The customer is satisfied with the website and creates an account to store their read history
The customer leaves the website as a satisfied customer

Consumer to Producer Story 3

A customer wants to be entertained by a form of visual media
The customer spends all day on other websites looking for a satisfying piece of media with no success.
The customer comes to our website looking for entertainment as a guest account
They browse the various sections of the website
The customer finds a story that interests them
The customer consumes the entire media along with advertisements
The customer wants to see more media and continues to consume media and advertisements
The customer feels inspired with the website and creates an account to share their own story
The customer leaves the website as a satisfied customer and comes back to contribute to the website

Producer Story

An up and coming creator is looking to expand their digital art empire
The artist comes to the website and looks for a place to upload their creations
The artist sees a prompt to create their own account.
The artist creates an account

The artists uploads their creations to to webflow

After two weeks, the artist is able to see the traffic towards their creation and cash out on a percent of ad revenue

The artist is satisfied with the results and continues to create content for the website

Producer Story 2

The website creators decide that they want to publish a piece of digital entertainment for the website

The creators find an artist willing to create the story for the website

The creator creates the story and hands it over to the website creators

The website creators post the story to the account created and put the work in the featured section

The website get new content and the creator makes a split of revenue from their creation

Requirements for the project

Be able to store username and passwords

Be able to track amount of traffic towards a particular comic

Be able to operate with guest users

Be able to store images and comics into a database and send them to a user website

Be able to control the content that is published to the viewer